Welcome to the real Ozarks, the one and only Ozark County, Missouri, a remote and rugged haven where nature outshines neon and “heavy traffic” is something you’re more likely to encounter on the rivers than on the roads.

Stay for a while, and you too may find there’s something magical about the mornings when the mist hugs the hollows as the sun creeps over the hills. And what can compare with a night sky so clear and dark the stars seem close enough to touch?

The rush of the rivers’ see-through water, the rhythm of the lakes lapping against their shores, the sounds of the woods, the beauty of spring blossoms floating through the forest . . . Don’t be surprised if these treasures call to you the next time you’re back in the city.

An Ozark County vacation combines the ease of modern conveniences and the appeal of bygone days. Modern resorts with all the amenities, whether they’re tucked “back in the sticks,” stretched along the river or overlooking our two Corps of Engineers lakes, offer the same down home charm and personal friendliness that “mom-and-pop” lodging has provided for decades. Come for a stay, and soon you’ll probably feel more like family than guests.

Our hills offer thousands of acres of beautiful conservation areas and national forest webbed by hiking trails and scenic drives and dotted with campgrounds. The abundant wildlife, especially deer and turkey, make Ozark County a prime area for hunting.

And our waterways – lakes and rivers – are famous for trophy-winning fish. Canoeing, kayaking and tubing are popular pastimes on Bryant Creek and the North Fork of the White River, and Ozark County’s friendly outfitters are ready to make the adventure easy for you.

If you prefer motorized water sports, the county’s two full-service marinas offer rentals of everything you’ll need to enjoy a day, or a week, cruising our lakes. Of course, they also offer stalls for you BYOB (bring your own boat) visitors too.

Come to Ozark County, and leave all the stress and hubbub behind. This is not a bright lights, big city kind of place. It’s a retreat where visitors and residents slow down, settle in and soak up the peaceful pleasures of some of the oldest mountains on earth.

If you’re like a lot of folks, the biggest problem you’ll have is leaving. That’s what happens when you discover the Real Ozarks.

ABOUT THIS YEAR'S COVER

Caulfield resident Stephanie Bade submitted the photo that is published on the cover of this year's magazine. The photo features her husband Bryan carrying their baby girl Ellie in a backpack while trout fishing the North Fork of the White River. The Bades own and operate Sunburst Ranch, a river resort that offers canoe, kayak, raft and tube rentals, a campground and cabins of all sizes. To find out more about what the North Fork River has to offer, see page 10 inside this magazine travel guide.

Getting here

Ozark County, Missouri, is nestled amid the hills, rivers and lakes near the center of the Missouri-Arkansas border. This scenic, secluded heart of the Ozarks is far away from rush-hour traffic and big-city hubbub – but easy to get to if you know the way. Come visit!

Driving directions

Directions are to Gainesville, the county seat of Ozark County.

From Branson

Head east on Highway 76 for 14 miles to Highway 160. Then turn east (right) and continue for 45 miles to Gainesville.

From Kansas City

Take US 71 south to MO 7 south to Clinton. From Clinton, take MO 13 south to Springfield (see note about GPS below). Then take I-44 east to US 65 south. Take US 60 east to Mansfield and turn south onto MO 5 south to Gainesville.

From Springfield

Disregard what your GPS may suggest! Here's the route most locals take: Head east from Springfield on Highway 60 to Mansfield (45 miles). Turn south onto Highway 5 toward Ava then continue south for another 30 miles from Ava to Gainesville.

From St. Louis

Take I-44 west to Rolla. Then take US Highway 63 south to West Plains. From there, take US Highway 160 west to Gainesville.

BEAUTIFUL RIVERS

In Ozark County, the North Fork of the White River and Bryant Creek offer visitors year-round scenic options for floating, fishing, swimming and otherwise enjoying the crystal clear waters of the Ozarks.

NORTH FORK of the White River

The picturesque Althea Spring is easily reachable from a short trail from the North Fork of the White River, just downstream from Patrick Bridge. The spring can also be accessed from a trail that begins at the parking lot at Patrick Bridge off H Highway. Photo submitted by Brian Contreras.

Fed by springs and protected by national forest for the top two-thirds of its 50-mile length, the North Fork of the White River in eastern Ozark County is a pristine jewel among the Ozarks float streams. A national forest recreation area, Missouri Department of Conservation access points, a legendary old grist mill and Blue Ribbon and Red Ribbon trout areas enhance the river's appeal to vacationers and locals alike.

Year-round beauty.

Since its upper reaches are in the Mark Twain National Forest, the North Fork retains its native natural character and has good watershed protection. The section from Highway 14 (Twin Bridges) south to H Highway (Patrick Bridge) is near-wilderness, and this stretch of river is fed by large springs that emerge amid stands of short-leaf pine and other lush forest. Seasonal water levels are consistent enough to keep some part of the North Fork always floatable, and although the gradient of the lower sections is not as spectacular as the river flows into Lake Norfork, the volume is good and the scenery is beautiful.

Tanner and Timber Jones, children of Gainesville residents Nick and Christina Jones, were enjoying an afternoon float trip in their kayaks when this photo was taken.

Fishing the
FORK

Brian Contreras of Tecumseh submitted this photo of a brown trout, one of the more popular species of fish anglers chase when visiting the North Fork of the White River.

Trout, black bass and stripers

Anglers fishing the North Fork of the White River can expect to catch quality trout in a variety of lengths overall.

Catch-and-release practices are recommended to help sustain trout numbers while the population recovers from the record flood.

The Blue Ribbon Trout Area (BRTA), which runs from Rainbow Spring to Patrick Bridge Access, is still the best-bet for rainbow trout. Anglers will continue to notice that the body condition of these fish is very good. Woolly buggers, pats rubber legs and prince nymphs bounced along the bottom are traditionally good wet fly patterns, while Adams and elk hair caddis dry flies work well when fish are surface feeding. Crayfish and minnow imitating crankbaits as well as various spinners are also effective.

The opportunity to catch brown trout in the Red Ribbon Trout Area (RRTA), from Patrick Bridge to Norfolk Lake, has declined since a record flood in 2017. Anglers should expect the majority of brown trout to range from 12-15 inches but also expect fewer numbers of brown trout when compared to the pre-flood years.

Quality brown trout also migrate into the BRTA and can be pursued with streamers. To catch more brown trout, try fishing during the sunrise and sunset hours. Stocking of brown trout will continue in the spring and fall to provide anglers with quality fishing opportunities.

Anglers can also expect more abundant numbers of black bass, striped bass and other warm-water species migrating into the RRTA and BRTA due to the recent spring high water events and sustained high water Norfolk Lake levels throughout the summer.

Smallmouth and Goggle-eye.

Bluegill, channel catfish and largemouth bass are a proven stocking combination that provides both food and sport-fishing. When stocked in this order and properly managed, these species provide great fishing and good eating.

Smallmouth bass can be caught in good numbers throughout the North Fork of the White River. Most of the fish will be 12-15 inches. However, there are decent numbers of quality fish which exceed 15 inches.

Jigs, crankbaits and soft plastic baits are good choices for catching smallmouth bass (soft plastics cannot be used in the Blue Ribbon Trout Area).

Goggle-eye also occur throughout the river, but anglers can expect lower catch rates after recent floods. These fish can be caught on the same type of lures as smallmouth, but generally smaller versions are more productive.

Be sure to concentrate fishing efforts in and around aquatic vegetation, boulders and rootwads.

Historic Hodgson Mill is located just off the banks of Bryant Creek across the river from the Sycamore access. This photo, submitted by Tara Land, shows her daughter Keeli Land and horse Edie at the mill last December. The mill is privately owned, but it is frequented by the public, and picnic tables located across Highway 160 offer a nice place to have lunch.

BRYANT Creek

{ QUIETER THAN THE NORTH FORK }

Bryant Creek, often called simply “the Bryant” by locals, is a relatively wild stream. It has slightly less paddling mileage than the North Fork of the White River and is highly fishable. There are no public canoe outfitters that service the Bryant, meaning only those who plan to bring and shuttle their own boats can float it. Because of the lack of outfitters, the Bryant doesn’t boast the big crowds the North Fork sometimes does. Less spring-fed, the Bryant has less volume and can be more difficult to float at times because it is narrower and has more obstacles - but it also has some fairly fast riffles. Before floating sections above Hodgson Mill in the summer, it’s wise to find out if those sections have enough water to float without having to wade and portage the shallow riffles.

{ FISHING THE BRYANT }

Bass anglers fishing below Highway 181 at Hodgson Mill will encounter more largemouth and spotted bass than those fishing upstream of the bridge. Ozark bass (goggle-eye) can be found in good numbers around rootwads and aquatic vegetation. Anglers can expect most of their catch to be over 6 inches with an occasional fish greater than 9 inches. Bass anglers can expect good catch rates of black bass (largemouth, smallmouth and spotted bass), although the vast majority of fish will be less than 12 inches. Walleye can be found in the lower river inhabiting the deeper pools and positioned around boulders and rootwads. Channel catfish can be found throughout most of Bryant Creek, although they are most prevalent in the section downstream of Highway 181 at Hodgson Mill. Anglers should expect good fishing for this species and should catch fish of all sizes.

Kaitlin Kelly submitted this photo she took of a solo float trip on Bryant Creek last November.

A benefit event in support of Stormy Jean Sigman, a 10-month old child diagnosed with cancer, is being held on Saturday, Feb. 4, at the Ozark County Courthouse in Gainesville.

By Jessi Dreckman jessi@ozarkcountytimes.com

Ozark County Sheriff's K9 Rye and her handler, Deputy Josh Sherman, are quite the duo within the sheriff's department, aiding in searches for drugs, missing people, paraphernalia and other potential evidence that proves beneficial to investigations.

The pair also serve as approachable ambassadors for the Ozark County Sheriff's Department, visiting often with school children and local community members.

Rye's history with the OCSO Rye was purchased by the OCSO in early 2020 with a donation from the Harlin family and Century Bank of the Ozarks after a Lions Club discussion with then Sheriff Duffron. Rye was Phelan resigned from the department in September 2020 after Reed announced his plans to retire later that year, and Deputy Justin Brown was hired by the department to replace him and serve as her handler. Brown had experience working with a K9 before in his position at the West Plains Police Department. He also had worked closely with newly elected Sheriff Cass Martin, as Brown had been employed with the WPPD at the time Martin was serving as an investigator for the Howell County prosecutor's office.

In July 2021, Brown transitioned to a different position within the OCSO, and Deputy Alan Duffron was hired to take his place and serve as Rye's handler. Rye and Duffron attended another training and were certified, and Duffron served in that role for about a year until this August 2022 when the Ozark County Sheriff's Department was forced to let go of a budget Duffron were let go.

UNSPOILED LAKES

Bull Shoals and Norfolk Lakes in Ozark County and the surrounding area provide a quiet, peaceful destination for boating, swimming, fishing, water sports, snorkeling, scuba diving and best of all - relaxing.

One of the Ozarks' best kept secrets, Bull Shoals and Norfolk Lakes in Ozark County are known for their quiet and serene nature. Visitors from busier areas are surprised at the lack of lake traffic. It can often feel as if you have the lake to yourself. Photo by John Crane.

BULL SHOALS

Lake

Bull Shoals Lake features open stretches perfect for boating; quiet, secluded coves great for swimming and water sports; clear, uncrowded water for scuba divers; and 48,195 surface acres of water that offer rewarding fishing for largemouth and small-mouth bass, crappie and striped bass. Whatever your lake plans, Ozark County's two concessionaire-operated marinas (described below) can get you going.

Theodosia Marina Resort, off Highway 160 in Theodosia, offers rentals of a variety of boats and equipment for fishing and fun on the water. A boat-and-motor sales and repair facility is affiliated with the marina. Marina staff can help you connect with local fishing guides, and the marina's gift shop/convenience store sells fuel, picnic supplies, beverages, fishing tackle and bait, water skis, boat accessories, clothing and novelties. The marina also offers short- and long-term boat-stall rentals. Nearby Fort Cook offers several types of lodging choices plus pads for motorhomes and a swimming pool for guests. The resort's adjoining campground and nearby Corps of Engineers boat ramp stay busy throughout the summer season. Cookie's restaurant is a popular eatery for tourists and locals alike. 417-273-4444. tmbullshoals.net. See ad, page 4.

Thornfield resident LaTasha Cook submitted this photo she snapped in May 2023 of her husband Mitch and their son Maverik, spring crappie fishing on Bull Shoals Lake.

Pontiac Cove Marina is a full-service marina, campground and resort located in Pontiac off Highway W southwest of Gainesville. Amenities include nightly and long-term boat slips, boat rentals, fuel dock, scuba air station and a convenience store/gift shop with bait, tackle, Missouri fishing licenses, boating accessories, stand-up paddleboards, towables, souvenirs, snacks, soda and beer. Stay at one of Lake Harbour Resort's six fully furnished suites or at the Red Barn Lodge, which sleeps 10, and Loft, which sleeps five. Eat at Just Jackie's restaurant located within the park and is accessible to boaters. The Pontiac bluffs on the northwest corner of the park are a favorite jumping-off point for lake-going daredevils. 417-679-3676. pontiaccove.com. See ad, page 21.

NORFORK Lake

This photo, taken by Rob Jeckstadt, shows the view from a cliff located where Bryant Creek and the North Fork of the White River meet as both rivers flow into Norfolk Lake at Tecumseh. The spot is known by locals as “the Forks.”

About 2,000 acres of the 22,000-acre Norfolk Lake extend into Missouri. Recreation is recognized as an important resource, attracting fisherfolk and water-sports-loving lake-goers who enjoy the Norfolk’s clear, spring-fed water. For a beautiful overview of Lake Norfolk, drive across the Highway 101 bridge south of Bakersfield.

Access/boat ramps.

The popular Tecumseh access on Norfolk Lake off Highway 160 was rebuilt by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers a few years ago, and offers lake-goers a boat ramp, separate kayak/canoe ramp and large parking lot.

Other boat accesses on Norfolk Lake in and near Ozark County include Bridges Creek (known locally as “Stump Hole”) located off County Road 551B (Smokey Road), Udall on O Highway, Liner Creek off T Highway, and Calamity Beach on Baxter County Road 24 off Arkansas Highway 201 in Clarkridge, Arkansas. Ozark County is a good base for exploring the rest of the lake, which extends south into Arkansas.

Fishing.

Fishing is a popular pastime on Lake Norfolk. Anglers can catch bass, walleye, crappie, striped bass, catfish and other species. The Tecumseh access of Lake Norfolk off Highway 160, an especially popular fishing spot for the annual spring white bass run, is usually preceded by good walleye fishing followed by excellent hybrid catches.

History.

Norfolk Lake, like Bull Shoals, is in the White River Basin. Both were originally built for flood control and power generation. President Harry Truman came to the Ozarks in July 1952 to dedicate both Norfolk and Bull Shoals dams, constructed and maintained by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Arkansas a few miles south of the state line.

Visit the Norfolk dam.

The Norfolk reservoir is formed by a large concrete dam across the North Fork of the White River four miles upstream from where the North Fork runs into the White River at the City of Norfolk, Arkansas. It also serves as a bridge across the river gorge. The dam is less than an hour’s drive south of Gainesville, and a great nearby visitor’s center about the dam offers an interesting educational experience for guests of all ages.

CANEY MOUNTAIN Conservation Area

Emily Green submitted this photo taken from one of the three vistas at Caney Mountain. The vistas, located directly off the gravel roadway, offer visitors expansive views, a picnic table, fire ring and ample room for children to explore. See map on facing page for location of vistas.

Nearly 8,000 acres of public land includes high-quality forest, woodland and glades providing opportunities for recreation, hiking, horseback riding, wildlife viewing, hunting, camping and more.

OWNER: Missouri Department of Conservation
ACREAGE: 7,899 acres including 1,300 of wildlife refuge

Views Caney Mountain features three scenic overlooks with picnic tables atop Preston Flats (see map, page 37) that allow visitors to witness Ozark County's spectacular views. All three spots are marked by "scenic vista" signs. One vista features a view that stretches all the way to Arkansas.

Wildlife viewing.

This conservation area helped nurture the rebirth of the eastern wild turkey after the state's population dropped to fewer than 2,500 birds. Today wild turkeys can be found in good numbers, as can whitetail deer, squirrels, birds and many other native species. Bald eagle sightings are common, especially during the winter. Two wheelchair-accessible wildlife viewing blinds, placed on the edges of managed food plots, provide a good opportunity for visitors to spot wildlife and take photos. Find the viewing blinds on the map, page 37.

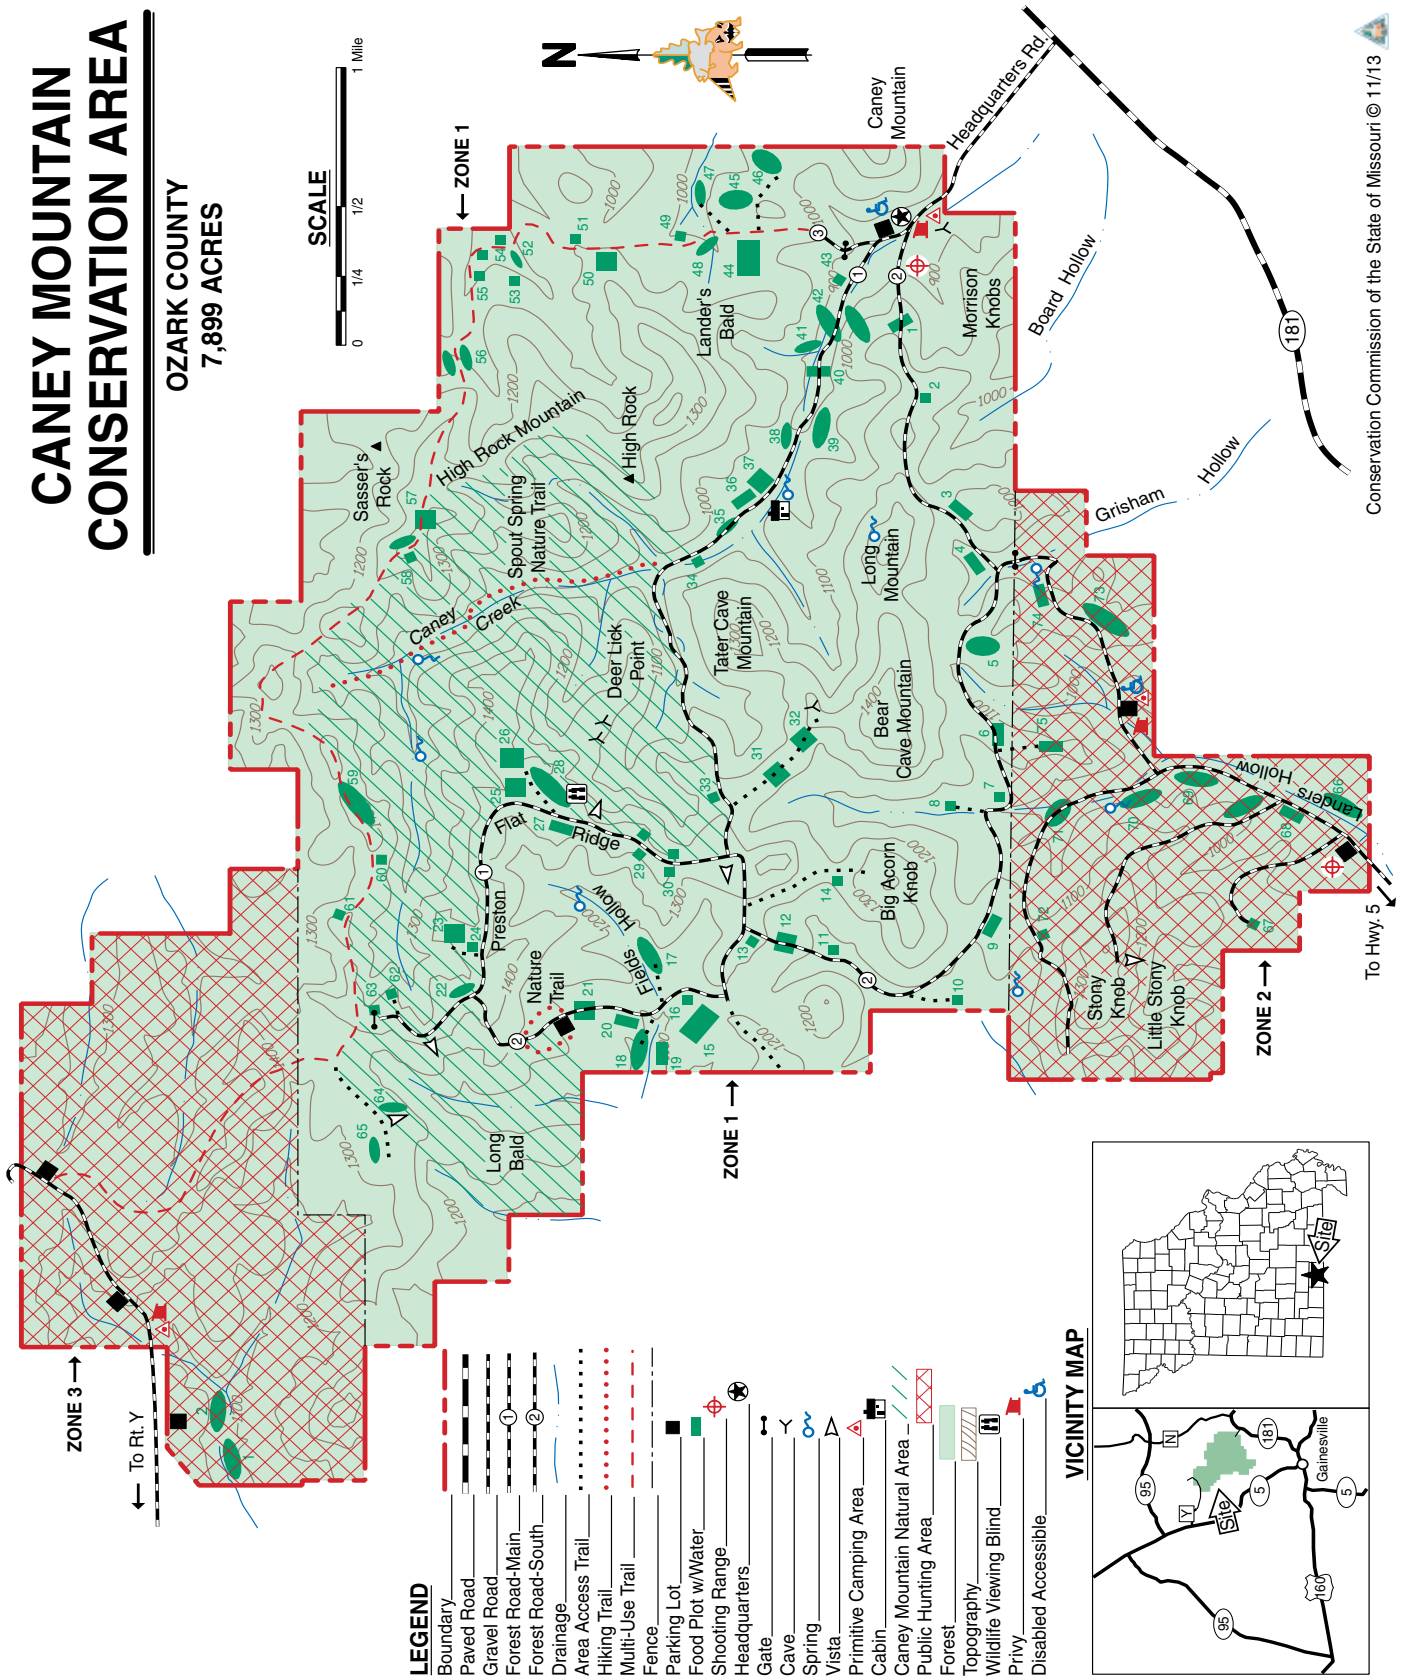

Bring creek shoes.

Get your toes wet, look for crawdads or just enjoy the sound of natural water surrounding you in Caney Mountain Conservation Area's water features. The area includes 112 intermittent streams including the 3-mile-long Caney Creek, the Spout Spring and over 40 fish-less ponds

Due to little-to-no cell phone reception, and no visitor display maps at the conservation area, visitors are encouraged to bring a map with them when exploring Caney Mountain Conservation Area. This map is available on the Missouri Department of Conservation website at <https://nature.mdc.mo.gov/sites/default/files/downloads/conservation-areas/5202map.pdf>.

CANEY MOUNTAIN

Conservation Area

A public archery range is located just past the Caney Mountain headquarters.

Take a hike.

Two designated hiking trails weave through the center wildlife refuge section of Caney Mountain Conservation Area. The Spout Spring Trail is an easy 1.5-mile out-and-back trail that passes through a variety of surroundings and runs along a creek, giving a glimpse of Spout Spring near the end. The Long Bald Nature Trail is a half-mile loop through glade country. Dozens of other unnamed multi-use trails, gravel roads and forestry roads run throughout the acreage and can be used by the public for hiking, bicycling or horseback riding. Maps are generally not available at the conservation area, so it's wise for travelers to download or bring their own before visiting. A map is available on page 37 or at <https://nature.mdc.mo.gov/sites/default/files/downloads/conservation-areas/5202map.pdf>.

Sight it in.

Visitors and residents can sight in weaponry at one of three ranges at Caney Mountain Conservation Area. The archery range features a static range as well as field targets with a tree-stand platform available for use. The rifle and handgun range features target distances of 25-100 yards, and a range restricted to muzzleloaders includes two stations with 50- and 100-yard distances.

Camping.

Pitch a tent or bring an RV to camp at one of the many campsites within the park. They include privies, fire rings and picnic tables.

Public/managed hunts

Public hunting: Caney Mountain Conservation Area is separated into three zones, and two of them – Zone 3 on the north end and Zone 2 on the south end – are open to public hunting. Hunting is prohibited in the center (Zone 1) “natural area,” except for managed deer and turkey hunts. Managed hunts: The center of the Caney Mountain Conservation Area, zone 1, is considered the natural area or wildlife refuge. This 1,100-acre section is closed to public deer and turkey hunting all year with the exception of a few managed hunts that include a muzzleloader deer hunt, an archery deer hunt, spring archery and shotgun turkey hunts and a youth-only spring shotgun turkey hunt. Participants are selected for the managed hunts in a lottery drawing, with application deadlines submitted several months ahead of the hunts. For more information or to submit an application to be considered for a management hunt, visit huntfish.mdc.mo.gov.

Directions

Caney Mountain Conservation Area has three access points. All directions are from Gainesville. Zone 1: Take Highway 181 north 5 miles. Turn left onto Headquarters Road, the graveled entrance to the conservation area. Zone 2: Take Highway 5 north 2 miles. Turn right onto County Road 107 and continue for a half-mile. Zone 3: Take Highway 5 north 10 miles. Turn right (east) onto Highway Y and drive 3 miles, then turn right onto County Road 116. Continue until you reach the entrance.

Meet the hardest working family in agriculture.

GLADE TOP TRAIL

Missouri
Scenic Byway

OWNER: Mark Twain National Forest, US Forest Service
LENGTH: 23 miles
CONTACT: Ava/Cassville/Willow Springs District Ranger
Cody Lunsford, 417-683-4428
GPS COORDINATES: Latitude: 36.75° N, Longitude: 92.76° W
OPEN: Year round; quiet hours from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m.
MAP: www.fs.fed.us/wildflowers/regions/eastern/GladeTopTrail

Considered one of the most scenic locations in Missouri, the Glade Top Trail cuts through the Mark Twain National Forest and borders the Hercules Glade Wilderness Area, following narrow ridgetops rising 500 feet above the surrounding rolling countryside.

Points of interest. Notable areas include Hayden Bald, which has a picnic table and parking area, and Smoke Tree scenic overlook, a pull-off with a bench for sitting and taking in the view. The Corbitt Potter and Willie Lee areas are good for “dispersed camping” (meaning camping outside of a designated campground, which is allowed along the trail). The Arkansas View site has a picnic table and spectacular views south. Watershed Divide offers views of a vast area of countryside. Wolf Junction has a picnic table, and Big Creek Basin offers an impressive view. Close to the Glade Top Trail on the southwest side, trails are available for hikers, equestrians and dispersed campers. A vault toilet is located at the Hercules Tower trailhead.

Scenic byway. The Glade Top Trail is a Missouri National Forest Scenic Byway. Its wide, sweeping views of the Ozarks countryside are beautiful anytime of year, but they’re especially breathtaking in the fall, when the hardwoods transform from their usual green blanket into a tapestry of vibrant autumn color. The all-weather road is accessible to all vehicles and is maintained regularly.

Overlooks. Seven overlook pull-off locations provide visitors with panoramic views of the Ozarks that reach 20 miles northwest to the Springfield Plateau and 40 miles south to the Boston Mountains in Arkansas.

Khristie Tate submitted this photo of Glade Top Trail blanketed in fall foliage last year. The scenic byway is known throughout the region for its brilliant views, especially during leaf-peeping season.

Bachman sparrow and Eastern Collared Lizard

Unique landscape.

Missouri has some of the greatest abundance and diversity of glades in the United States, and Glade Top Trail lies within the heart of the best remaining examples of this unique natural landscape. Also known as barrens, balds or knobs, glades consist of areas of thin soil with relatively large amounts of exposed bedrock, and they're dominated by herbaceous vegetation. The glades provide habitat for some species not generally found in the Ozarks, including the Bachman sparrow, a state endangered species. If you're lucky, you might see the colorful eastern collared lizard, pictured left.

Wildflowers.

Native to these glades is a high diversity of both common and rare plants. Some of the wildflowers that can be seen along the Glade Top Trail include Arkansas calamint (satureja arkansana), aromatic aster (symphotrichum oblongifolium), Barbara's buttons (marshallia caespitosa var. signata), Bush's skullcap (scutellaria bushii), Gattinger's goldenrod (solidago gattingeri), Missouri black-eyed Susan (rudbeckia missouriensis), Missouri evening primrose (oenothera missouriensis), purple beardtongue (penstemon cobaea var. purpureus), purple coneflower (echinacea purpurea), rosinweed (grindelia lanceolata), stenosisiphon (stenosisiphon linifolius), silky aster (symphotrichum sericeum), Spanish needles (palafoxia callosa), Trelease's larkspur (delphinium treleasei) and yellow coneflower (echinacea paradoxa).

Missouri Black-Eyed Susan

Directions

From Gainesville, travel north on Highway 5 about 25 miles. Turn left on Highway A in Douglas County. (Note: Ozark County has an A Highway just south of Wasola; don't turn there.) Go 3.6 miles and turn left on County Road 409, where you'll see a Glade Top Trail sign. The trail's south end can also be accessed at Longrun, off Highway 95 in Ozark County. From the west, access the trail from Highway 125, 2 miles south of the Hercules Glade Wilderness.

Recreation Area

Originally constructed by the Civilian Conservation Corps, this scenic recreation area on the shore of a 26-acre lake offers picnicking, fishing, birdwatching, canoeing and electric motor boating.

OWNER: Mark Twain National Forest, US Forest Service
CONTACT: Ava/Cassville/Willow Springs Ranger District, 1103 South Jefferson, Ava • 417-683-4428
HOURS OPEN: 6 a.m. to 10 p.m.
FEES: No day use fee. Group picnic pavilion $25/day.
GPS COORDINATES: Latitude: 36.90 Longitude : -92.09

Camp. Dispersed primitive camping is allowed in loops below the dam and on the hill across from the Noblett trailhead, known locally as "Sugar Hill." Camping is not allowed in the day use area.

Canoeing and fishing. Noblett Lake is a popular place to canoe and fish for blue gill, sunfish, bass and catfish. Only electric motors are allowed on the water.

Picnic/pavilion Picnic tables and grills are available on a first come, first serve basis. Vault toilets are available, but there is no drinking water on site. The pavilion, pictured at left, can be reserved for $50 per day at the website recreation.gov. If not reserved, it can be used on a "first-come, first-serve" basis. Reservations may be made at least four days and up to 12 months in advance. Groups of more than 75 people, whether or not they're using the pavilion, must obtain a special permit. Call 1-877-444-6777 or visit recreation.gov to book.

Ridge Runner trail. This National Recreation Trail offers backpackers, mountain bikers and equestrians a 36.5-mile route that begins with a 6-mile loop at Noblett Lake and continues south for 21 miles, where it meets a 6-mile loop at the North Fork Recreation Area (see page 49). Horses are not allowed in the day use areas at Noblett Lake or North Fork Recreation Area or near Blue Spring in the North Fork Recreation Area.

Riding horses. The Ridge Runner Trail is popular among equestrians who are seeking an all-day ride. A 6-mile loop serves those seeking a shorter ride. Limited trailer space at the trailheads makes it difficult for more than a few riders to use the trail at any given time. Parking is especially limited on spring and fall weekends. Horses are not allowed in the dispersed camping area below the dam, around the lake or in the picnic area.

Lake loop. The Loop Trail around Noblett Lake on the north end of the Ridge Runner Trail is a good option for day hikers. If vehicle shuttling is an option, the main trunk of the Ridge Runner Trail (see above) also provides point-to-point day hike options.

Directions From Dora in northern Ozark County, travel north on Highway 181 for 20 miles. Turn right onto State Highway AP and continue about 3 miles. Turn right onto Forest Road 857 and continue for about 1 mile to the turnoff for the day use area. The road continues to the Noblett dam and trailhead.

NORTH FORK

Recreation Area

The beautifully scenic Blue Spring is located just a mile roundtrip walk from the North Fork Recreation Area and well worth the side trip. The vibrant spring is about 30 feet in diameter and averages 7 million gallons of cold, clear-blue water a day.

North Fork Recreation Area provides camping, picnicking, boating, canoeing, hiking and fishing access on the beautiful North Fork of the White River, which has a total of nine major springs flowing into it.

OWNER: Mark Twain National Forest, US Forest Service

CONTACT: Ava/Cassville/Willow Springs Ranger Station, 417-683-4428

GPS COORDINATES: Latitude: 36.7547818, Longitude : -92.1548502

FEES: Day use fee is $2 per vehicle, $10 per bus

HOURS OPEN: 6 a.m. to 10 p.m.

OPERATIONAL DATES: Gates are open May 15 - Nov. 30, and closed Dec. 1 - March 1. Walk-in traffic and day use is permitted when gate is closed, but no camping.

Picnic and swim. Ten sites with grills and picnic tables are available for day-use picnicking. The area also offers vault toilets, drinking water and centralized garbage collection. This area is used for swimming, tubing and wading during the summer months. There is no life-guard, and using the water access is done at one's own risk. A $2 per vehicle day use fee is charged for those visiting.

Canoe/kayak.

The North Fork Recreation Area is more commonly known by locals as Hammond access, especially in reference to the public canoe and kayak access ramp. Small jon boats can be launched here; however, motorized boats are prohibited. This is one of three public access points on the North Fork of the White River. While this access is managed by the U.S. Forest Service, the other two, at Blair Bridge and Patrick Bridge, are managed by the Missouri Department of Conservation. Private access points are offered by local outfitters Twin Bridges, River of Life Farm, Pettit's Canoe Rental, Sunburst Ranch and Dawt Mill Resort.

Camping. The North Fork Recreation Area offers 20 campsites, each with a picnic table, fire ring, post for a hanging lamp and a tent pad. Drinking water (available May 15 - Oct. 15), vault toilets and garbage receptacles are centrally located. No water or sewer hook-ups for camping trailers are available at this location. Campground nightly fees of $10 for non-electric sites. The use of generators is not prohibited, but quiet hours are from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m.

Directions From Gainesville, take Highway 181 northeast to CC Highway just south of Dora. Turn right and travel east for 3 miles.

River outfitters offering canoes, kayaks and rafts for rent often transport boats and the floaters with them to the access on school buses. Here an outfitter begins unloading at the North Fork Recreation Area river access on a slower day last spring.

Devil's Backbone Trail.

The North Fork Recreation Area at Blue Spring serves as a gateway into the Devil's Backbone Wilderness, a 6,687-acre area of wild, public land that takes its name from a long, narrow ridge known to the area's early settlers as the Devil's Backbone. At 1,020 feet, the highest "vertebrae" of the ridge trail glides through the center of the wilderness. The trail is rated as moderately difficult with sometimes steep terrain. Thirteen miles of maintained foot and horse trails follow the Devil's Backbone and four other ridges, dropping off into surrounding hollows in a forest dominated by oaks, hickories and short-leaf pines. Although equestrians are allowed on the trail, they are not allowed near Blue Spring or in the day use area of the North Fork Recreation Area. Alternatively, horseback riders can access the Raccoon Hollow Trailhead from the south side of CC Highway about 1.5 miles east of Dora.

Ridge Runner Trail.

This National Recreation Trail provides backpackers, mountain bikers and equestrians with a 36.5-mile route that begins with a 6-mile loop at the North Fork Recreation Area and continues north for 21 miles, where it meets a 6-mile loop at Noblett Lake. The landscape varies from gently rolling to very steep terrain with rock outcrops and bluffs. Vegetation along the trail is diverse and includes oak-hickory, shortleaf pine and bottomland forests. Remnant prairie plants can be seen, a reminder of a time when repeated wildfires burned the Ozarks, allowing fingers of prairie to extend into the woods. Horses are not allowed in the day use area at North Fork Recreation Area, near Blue Spring or in the day use area at Noblett Lake. The Ridge Runner Trail can also be accessed at the Hay Hollow Trailhead on Forest Road 759, off Highway 14 east of Twin Bridges. The trail passes through the creek bottom approximately .4 miles south of Braddock Lake. Primitive camping is available at this trailhead.

HERCULES GLADE Wilderness

Dispersed camping is allowed in the Hercules Glade Wilderness Area. There are several campsites along the creek near the falls that offer a flat area to pitch a tent with stacked stone fire pits.

Hike. Hercules Glade features 32 miles of maintained trails to explore by foot or on horseback. It features steep areas, stream crossings, sparse trail markings and elevations ranging from 600 to 1,200 feet. Hikers should bring a map and compass or a GPS unit.

This 12,413-acre wilderness encompasses some of the most scenic and unique country in the Midwest. Its varied landscapes offer unusual beauty and a measure of solitude within easy reach of those who love the outdoors.

Long Creek Falls is an impressive display of the power of water on a dolomite creekbottom. The 10- to 12-foot drops create beautiful waterfalls. During the wetter months, many visitors can't resist hopping into Long Creek for a refreshing dip. Hikers can access the falls from routes beginning at any of the three trailheads.

Directions

Three trailheads provide entry to the Hercules Glades Wilderness. The Hercules Tower Trailhead is located along Highway 125, 7 miles north of Highway 160 in Taney County. It has a vault toilet, space for camping and parking. The Blair Ridge Trailhead is also off Highway 125. Turn onto Forest Road 155 and go approximately 2 miles. Only parking is available at this location. The Coy Bald Trailhead, farthest from Ozark County, is off Highway 160, 9 miles east of Forsyth. Turn north onto Forest Road 566 and go approximately 4 miles. Only parking is available at this location.

PIGEON CREEK

Trails and Park

A grove of cypress trees off the side of the roadway near the lake access makes an fascinating place to visit and is an interesting backdrop for family photos.

The Pigeon Creek public access on Norfolk Lake is a great area to visit for a wide variety of activities. Fun can be had by lake-goers launching boats, fishing, hiking, bicycling and enjoying the unique cypress grove.

Corps run.

The Pigeon Creek National Recreation Trail is owned by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and is maintained through a volunteer program operated by the Twin Lakes Bicycle Club. The trail system can be accessed from Arkansas Highway 201 (a continuation of Missouri J Highway) just south of the Missouri/Arkansas line at Pigeon Creek Park on Lake Norfolk.

Fishing.

Anglers can often be found lining the banks of Norfolk Lake, and fisherman with boats use the boat ramp heavily throughout the year. Those fishing here must have an Arkansas fishing license or a Missouri fishing license with a Border Lakes tag.

Multi-use Trails.

The Pigeon Creek “stacked loop” trail system consists of more than 20 miles of bicycling and hiking trails along the shores of Lake Norfolk. The trail system is a favorite with off-road bicyclists and draws a large crowd from all over the Midwest. No horses or motorized vehicles are allowed on the trails. The trailhead is on the west (right) side of Highway 201, opposite the boat ramp side, when coming from Missouri. There is a small parking lot allowing hikers or bikers access to leave their vehicles.

Boat/Swim

The park includes a public boat-launch ramp and parking lot for visitors. The lake in this area is enjoyed by swimmers during the summer months. There is no lifeguard, and using the water access is done at one's own risk.

Directions

From Gainesville, take Highway 160 east to J Highway. Turn right (south) and continue into Arkansas, where the road becomes Arkansas 201. Pigeon Creek Park is approximately 6 miles south of the state line on Lake Norfolk.

BRYANT CREEK State Park

Two hiking trails provide guests with the option of a short half-mile or a longer 4.5-mile hike. Photo courtesy of Missouri State Parks.

Located near Rockbridge, Bryant Creek State Park is home to impressively large oaks and shortleaf pines spanning rugged, steeply dissected river hills that front the stream for which it's named. With over 2,900 acres, the park features many natural attributes including 2 miles of Bryant Creek frontage.

Unique.

Four tributary hollows go through uncut forest and sandstone outcrops, providing lots of character and scenic views. The park's remote location, bountiful flora and fauna, and pristine creek make it a great place to experience the wonders of the Ozarks.

Trails.

Two hiking trails wind through the northern end of park, the 4.5 mile Pike Hollow Trail and the more accessible .6-mile Pinewoods Trail, allowing users to see Missouri's only species of native pine, and picnic tables provide visitors a place to relax and take in their surroundings.

Among the natural elements seen on the Pike Hollow Trail are various rock and stone features including overhangs that produce small waterfalls during wet weather periods. Missouri State Parks photo.

Accessibility.

Guests with mobility issues can now more easily enjoy Bryant Creek State Park thanks to an electronic track chair on site. The track chair provides access to Pinewoods Trail and the overlook and is available for use June 1 through Oct. 31, Thursday through Saturday. Produced by the Action Trackchair company, the chair is an electric all-terrain wheelchair that offers guests with mobility challenges the opportunity to partake in outdoor activities. With a track chair, guests can explore trails and visit parts of Missouri state parks or historic sites that are not suitable for regular wheelchairs.

These sturdier, more rugged chairs use tank-like tracks instead of wheels to allow guests to traverse some of the rougher, uneven trails found in Missouri state parks. All-terrain track chairs can navigate through snow, water, mud, sand and other rough conditions.

Using the track chair is free. Reservations must be made at least two days in advance by calling 417-683-2520. Also, a friend or family member 18 years or older must go along to help, because park representatives are not always available or able to help users transfer to or from the chair. Due to battery life, the chair can be reserved for two hours at a time.

HIKING

Trails

Hike the trails or get off the beaten path! Most public areas also allow hikers to explore areas off designated trails and paths. It's wise to bring a map if hiking off-trail.

SPOUT SPRING NATURE TRAIL

Caney Mountain Conservation Area, See page 36

Distance and configuration: 3-mile out-and-back trail

Facilities: Restrooms, parking, camping and picnic areas

Description: This easy trail traverses 1.5 miles of the shady depths of Caney Creek Valley in the Caney Mountain Conservation Area's interior. The trail follows Caney Creek most of the way, providing beautiful scenery along the gently rolling hills. There are a few shallow-water crossings along the way, and a picnic table just a short way from the trailhead provides a nice spot for a packed lunch.

Directions: From Gainesville, travel north on Highway 181 to Caney Mountain Conservation Area Headquarters Road, on the left. When you get to the headquarters area, bear right to stay on the Main Trail. The trailhead is 1.5 miles ahead on the right.

gether for up to 20 miles. The trails vary in difficulty with an elevation difference of 250 feet maximum.

Directions: From Gainesville, head east on Highway 160 for 5 miles. Turn right (south) onto J Highway and continue into Arkansas, where J Highway becomes Arkansas Highway 201. Continue for 8 miles to Pigeon Creek Park just before crossing the Lake Norfork bridge. The trailhead access is on the right (west) side of the highway, and the recreation area is on the left (east) side.

BLUE SPRING TRAIL

North Fork Recreation Area, see page 48

Distance and configuration: 1-mile out-and-back hike

Facilities: Restrooms, camping, parking, picnic areas and water during warmer months

Description: This very short walk takes you from the campground at the North Fork Recreation Area to the turquoise, ice-cold waters of Blue Spring. The trail parallels the North Fork of the White River and, after the spring, continues on into the Devil's Backbone Wilderness area. Among the trees, cardinals, woodpeckers and other birds glide from tree to tree. Flowering dogwood and redbud trees catch springtime sunshine in the awaking forest and display brilliant colors. Averaging 7 million gallons of cold, clear water each day, Blue Spring creates a deep, oval-shaped pool about 30 feet in diameter that's surrounded on three sides by a stone wall of cherty Gasconade dolomite. Horses and motorized vehicles are prohibited from this area of the National Forest.

Directions: From Gainesville, take Highway 181 to CC Highway just south of Dora; turn right on CC and travel 3 miles.

DEVIL'S BACKBONE LOOP

North Fork Recreation Area, page 49

Distance and configuration: 10-mile or 13-mile balloon loop options; a 4-mile out-and-back option makes for a good day trip

Facilities: Restrooms, camping, parking, picnic areas and water during warmer months

Map: www.ozarktrail.com/northfork.php

Description: The Devil's Backbone Wilderness includes 13 miles of moderately difficult trails within the area accessible from Blue Spring Trailhead, including a 10-mile loop or a 13-mile loop option. Accessed from the North Fork Recreation Area, known locally as Hammond access, visitors can follow the half-mile trail to Blue Spring (horses are prohibited in this trailhead and near Blue Spring), then travel along a bluffline and down to the North Fork River around mile 2. This stop provides a nice spot for a picnic and a 4-mile hiking option to return back to the trailhead for those desiring a shorter trek. After the river, hikers can take a left onto a trail to make a 10-mile loop or continue straight for a 13-mile loop. The other three trailheads – Raccoon Hollow on the south side of CC Highway about 1.5 miles east of Dora; McGarr Ridge Trailhead on the south side of CC Highway about 4 miles east of Dora; and Collins Ridge Trailhead on County Road KK/362 about 16 miles west of West Plains – provide options for point-to-point hikes as well. The terrain is sometimes steep, ranging in elevation from 1,020 to 680 feet, and there are few blazes. Visitors should bring a map and compass and be comfortable route-finding if continuing on past the 4-mile out-and-back hike.

Directions: From Gainesville, take Highway 181 to CC Highway just south of Dora; turn right onto CC east and continue 3 miles.

North Fork Recreation Area, page 49

Distance and configuration: 22-mile point-to-point

Facilities: Restrooms, camping, parking, picnic areas and water at trailhead during warmer months

Map: www.ozarktrail.com/northfork

Description: The Ridge Runner Trail

incorporates parts of two shorter loop routes at Noblett Lake (8 miles) and North Fork Recreation Area (12 miles). The diverse vegetation along the trail includes native wild flowers and remnant prairie species, oak-hickory, shortleaf pine and bottom land forests. The Ridge Runner Trail is rated as moderate and ranges in elevation from 800 to 1,100 feet. The trail is not well defined in some areas and crosses several old logging roads, so visitors should feel comfortable route-finding and should bring a map and compass. Backpackers and hikers should carry plenty of water, as stream accesses are limited to the northern and southern ends of the trail, and water sources can be extremely scarce. The trail is designed and maintained for foot traffic, horse use and mountain bike use. Motorized travel, including on dirt bikes and ATVs, is not permitted.

Directions: From Gainesville, take Highway 181 to CC Highway just south of Dora; turn right on CC east and continue 3 miles.

NOBLETT LAKE LOOP

Noblett Lake Recreation Area, page 45

Distance and configuration: 8-mile loop
Facilities: Restrooms, camping, parking, picnic areas and water at trailhead during warmer months.

Map: www.ozarktrail.com/northfork

Description: An 8-mile loop trail surrounding the 26-acre Noblett Lake provides an appealing opportunity for hikers, equestrians and mountain bikers. This challenging, single-track loop is crisscrossed by a double-track horse trail and crosses Noblett and Spring creeks and Cord Hollow. Trail users sometimes describe deadfall, difficult route-finding and steep, loose hills on the trek. The east half of the loop, by the lake, forms the northern end of the Ridge Runner section of the Ozark Trail, which ends at the North Fork Recreation Area. The frustrations of this trail are usually more than offset by the beauty of the surroundings, the adventure of an unfamiliar and remote experience, and the great view of Noblett Lake from the amazing downhill section near the end of the hike.

Directions: From Gainesville, take Highway 181 north, continuing past Dora to AP Highway in Douglas County. Turn right and follow AP for about 3 miles then turn right onto Forest Road 857 and continue for about 1 mile to the turnoff for the day-use area. The road continues to the Noblett dam and trailhead.

COY BALD LOOP

Hercules Glade Wilderness, page 53

Distance and configuration: 6.8-mile loop linking in with the Hercules Glade system of 32 miles of trails

Facilities: Primitive camping, picnic tables and a pit toilet

Map: www.fs.usda.gov and search for "Hercules Glade"

Description: Coy Bald Trail is a 6.8-mile lightly trafficked loop trail located within the Hercules Glade Wilderness near Bradleyville. The loop features a waterfall and is rated as moderate. The trail offers a number of activity options and is accessible year-round. Dogs are also permitted on this trail but must be kept on a leash. From this and other trailheads in the Hercules Glade Wilderness Area, 32 miles of maintained trails traverse open glades, forested ridgetops and Long Creek, the primary drainage of the area. Cross-country hiking in other parts of the area is allowed. Key attractions along the trail include Long Creek Falls, panoramic views of the Ozarks countryside and a variety of native landscapes, including open limestone glades and mixed forests.

Directions: From Gainesville, head west on Highway 160 for 39 miles. Turn right (north) onto Cross Timber Road (Forest Road 566), and drive approximately 4 miles to the trailhead.

PIKE HOLLOW TRAIL

Bryant Creek State Park, page 58

Distance and configuration: 4.5 mile loop.

Facilities: Parking lot, picnic tables, pit toilets.

Description: The Pike Hollow Trail is a 4.5-mile "rugged" trail is expected to take four and a half hours to complete. It takes hikers along long ledges of Roubidoux sandstone. The outcrops form intriguing, weather-worn shapes. Bryant Creek State Park is heavily forested, deeply carved and sharply incised. With 940 kinds of plants, the park preserves more wildflowers, shrubs, trees and other vascular plant species than any area of Missouri yet studied, encompassing within these 3,000 acres nearly one-third of Missouri's total known flora. More species of lichen have been discovered at Bryant Creek than in all but one other Missouri State Park. Nearly 70 kinds of forest, woodland and shrubland birds are known to nest in the park, and many more pass through during spring and fall migrations.

Directions: From Gainesville, travel north on Highway 181 for 7 miles. Turn left onto N Highway in Zanoni, and continue for 12 more miles.

PINWOODS TRAIL

Bryant Creek State Park, page 58

Distance and configuration: .6-mile loop.

Facilities: Parking lot, picnic tables, pit toilets.

Description: Pinwoods Trail leisurely leads visitors through the narrow ridgetop covered in native pine, just to the edge of the rugged drop off to the sandstone geography below. This 0.6-mile trail is a great way to see Missouri's only native Shortleaf Pine.

Directions: From Gainesville, travel north on Highway 181 for 7 miles. Turn left onto N Highway in Zanoni, and continue for 12 more miles.

Bryant Creek State Park has trail maps and area information posted on boards at the park.

HUNTING

Deer, turkey, black bear and more

If you're interested in hunting, Ozark County offers many options including deer, turkey, black bear, predator, small game, dove and other birds. Ian Robinson is pictured here with a deer he harvested in Ozark County during youth season 2023.

Public hunting:

Caney Mountain Conservation Area includes 6,599 acres of public hunting (see pages 36-37), while Rippee Conservation Area provides another 419 acres and the Mark Twain National Forest has another 38,000 acres of public land. For more information about these areas and others, call the Missouri Department of Conservation's Ozark Regional Office at 417-256-7161 (or visit mdc.mo.gov) and the Ava-Cassville-Willow Springs district office of the Mark Twain National Forest at 417-683-4428 (or visit fs.usda.gov/mtnf).

Offering healthy populations of whitetail deer and turkey with relatively low hunting pressure, Ozark County is an outdoorsman's paradise.

Permits:

You can buy hunting permits online at huntfish.mdc.mo.gov/permits, by phone (800-392-4115), through the smartphone app "MO Hunting," at any Missouri Department of Conservation office or from more than a thousand vendors around the state.

Ranges:

Caney Mountain Conservation Area features three public shooting ranges, one archery range, one rifle/handgun range and one blackpowder range. The archery range and the blackpowder range are located near the main entrance off Highway 181. The rifle/handgun range is located near the Caney Mountain entrance off Highway 5 north of Gainesville. See page 36 for more information about Caney Mountain.

The five remaining grist mills of Ozark County are a popular attraction with visitors of Ozark County, giving a glimpse of life in the region more than a century ago.

Historic GRIST MILLS

This rebuilt landmark, once the heart of a tiny Ozarks milling village founded in the mid-1800s, is the modern-day focus of a resort in a beautiful setting along the bank of the North Fork of the White River. Located northeast of Tecumseh on County Road 318, off Highway 160 via PP Highway, Dawt Mill was the last operating grist mill in Ozark County. Built in 1897, Dawt once was a town with a blacksmith shop, store, church and hotel. The first mill was built on the site in 1892, but later burned. The property has changed hands many times. The present mill was built in 1909 by Alva Hodgson. Following several owners through the years, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Henegar purchased the mill in 1995 and began a major restoration and renovation of the surrounding property. It is now a resort.

The original mill at Hammond was built in 1856 out of local logs. A replacement mill burned in 1876, and that mill's replacement washed away in a 1904 flood. The current structure was built as a four-story roller mill in 1907. At one time, tall black lettering on the side of the white mill identified the building as the "Home of Ozark Queen Flour." The mill, privately owned, is not open to the public, but it's viewable from County Road 855, off D Highway about 3 miles southeast of Thornfield. At one time the old mill was the heart of a quaint Ozarks village that also included a licensed distillery, a bank, a sawmill, general store and a post office that opened in 1894. Milling ceased at Hammond in the early 1940s, and the little town essentially disappeared after the Bank of Hammond closed. Photo by Jennifer Porter.

This beautiful old grist mill, on Highway 181 about 12 miles northeast of Gainesville, stands a short distance from Bryant Creek, where generations of residents and visitors have cooled off on hot summer days in a swimming hole just above the low-water Highway 181 bridge. The Sycamore access to the Bryant, a creek-gravel boat launch, is just downstream. The first mill on this site was built in 1883, powered by what is said to be the 15th largest spring in Missouri. Rebuilt by Alva Hodgson in 1897, the mill continued producing flour and meal for decades before falling into disuse. In 1969, Ken and Teena Harrington took over the lease and began producing Hodgson Mill stone-ground products that soon were distributed in grocery stores nationwide. Today those products, in packages carrying a stylized picture of Hodgson Mill, are still sold in some stores, now produced by an Illinois-based company. The mill is closed to the public, but the roadside parking area in front of the overflowing mill pond is a perfect rest stop and picture backdrop. Photo by Karen Eubank.

The original Rockbridge settlement, a few miles away from the present-day site, served as Ozark County's first seat of government. After the town was destroyed by raiders during the Civil War, the post office reopened in 1867 at Rockbridge's present site on Spring Creek off N Highway near the Douglas-Ozark County line. Rockbridge Mill was built here in 1892 by B. V. Morris, whose son, Frank, took over milling operations after his dad's death in 1918. Lile and Edith Amyx and Dr. M. C. and India Amyx purchased the property in 1954 and launched Rainbow Trout Ranch, one of the Ozarks' most successful and enduring resorts. Today, this picturesque attraction sits on 2,000 scenic acres, including 2 miles of sparkling clear Spring Creek stocked with rainbow trout from the resort's own hatchery. A wide variety of lodging facilities is available plus a full-service restaurant that attracts diners from throughout the Ozarks. Resort guests enjoy the swimming pool, hiking trails, a gun club and, in season, guided turkey and deer hunts. For more information, call 417-679-3619 or visit rockbridgemo.com. Photo courtesy of Rockbridge Rainbow Trout Ranch.

Located 9 miles northeast of Gainesville on Highway 181, Zanoni Mill features a big, overshot water wheel powered by a hillside spring with a daily average flow estimated at 194,000 gallons. The current mill is the successor to earlier versions that have operated on the site since before the Civil War. A village grew up around the mill, including a general store and post office, a blacksmith shop and a cotton gin. Milling operations ended in 1951, but the general store and post office continued at Zanoni until owner A.P. Morrison's death in 1969. Morrison's daughter, Classy Shanks, then became postmaster and moved the post office a few miles west on Highway 181. Later Zanoni owners Dave and Mary Morrison built a large home they eventually adapted into a popular bed and breakfast; they also rebuilt the mill as a quaint site for special events, including weddings and family reunions. Today Zanoni Mill is owned by a private family who offers the scenic place as a special event and wedding venue. The mill and nearby general store and post office, long closed, are viewable from nearby Highway 181. Photo courtesy of Zanoni Mill.

SCENIC Drives

OZARK COUNTY MILL TOUR

63 miles, approximate drivetime 2.5 hours

Ozark County is home to five historic grist mills (see page 70) and many visitors enjoy a driving tour to visit them. Here's a route that lets you see the four mills on the west side of the county. A fifth mill, Hammond, on County Road 855 off D Highway south of Thornfield, has been converted to a private residence.

Directions: Starting from the Gainesville square, head east on Highway 160 to Highway 181. Travel several miles on Highway 181, going past the Caney Mountain Conservation Area and continuing to N Highway. Head north on N for 10-12 miles, crossing Highway 95 and continuing on N Highway to County Road 142 (watch for the Rockbridge sign). After visiting Rockbridge, return to N Highway and retrace your route back to Highway 181. Turn left (east) and drive along the ridge and down the steep Zانوني Hill. Zانوني Mill is on the left (north) side of the road at the bottom of the hill and is viewable from the highway. Continue on Highway 181 another 5 miles or so, and shortly after crossing Bryant Creek, you'll see Hodgson Mill on the right (east) side of the road. Enjoy a photo stop and then head on to Dawt Mill by continuing northeast on Highway 181 to its junction with H Highway. Turn right (south) on H and continue to PP Highway. Turn right onto PP, and a mile or so after crossing the North Fork of the White River, turn right (west) onto County Road 318 at Clear Springs Church. Dawt is about a mile down the road. To return to Gainesville, get back on PP and continue southeast to Highway 160. Turn right (west) on 160 and drive about 11 miles.

GLADE TOP TRAIL LOOP

70 miles, approximate drivetime 3.5 hours

A trip to the Ozarks isn't complete without a ride over the Glade Top Trail (see page 40), Missouri's first National Forest Scenic Byway. The 23-mile gravel roadway offers travelers glimpses of some of the most spectacular panoramic views in Missouri. This drive is particularly scenic during the fall months when the leaves have changed color along the trail. The Caney Picnic Area, about halfway, is a nice place to stop and enjoy a picnic lunch, a beautiful view and a breath of Ozark Mountain air. Continue to the trail's end near the Longrun community then drive on to Theodosia to view Bull Shoals Lake before returning to Gainesville.

Directions: Starting from the Gainesville square, head north on Highway 5 for 27 miles into Douglas County. Turn left (west) onto Douglas County A Highway a few miles south of Ava. (Be careful not to turn onto Ozark County A Highway south of Wasola.) Continue on Douglas County Highway A for 3.6 miles. Turn left onto County Road 409 at the sign for Glade Top Trail. Follow the signs along the 23-mile trail. At the trail's end, you can return the way you came or, at Wolf Junction, where the trail splits, bear left on Forest Service Road 147 for about 2 miles. The gravel road will turn onto hard-surfaced Highway 95 near Longrun. Turn right (south) onto 95 and drive to Highway 160. Turn left (east) onto 160 and continue about 20 miles back to Gainesville. You will cross Theodosia Bridge over Bull Shoals Lake about 3 miles after turning onto Highway 160.

MOVING HERE?

What you need to know

Those looking to relocate to somewhere with a little slower pace may consider Ozark County's rolling countryside. Farms, river- and lake-side homes and small-town houses are spread across the county's 755 square miles. Photo by Amy Ingalsbe.

For generations, Ozark County's rugged beauty, clean air, crystal-clear streams, inviting lakes and game-rich forests have attracted vacationers seeking quiet solitude, active water activities or rewarding hunting and fishing. Visitors from coast to coast have discovered the amazingly affordable joys of Ozarks living and the cherished sense of independence we enjoy in our rather isolated corner of the world, where the nearest three-color traffic light is 30 miles away.

If you're thinking along those lines, check out the area's talented realtors and real estate agents who can help you find just the right place.

It might be a home in town with convenient services or that little farm you've always wanted to own or a house overlooking the water or set on a hillside with panoramic views.

To help those who are planning to make Ozark County their home, we've gathered some helpful moving-in information:

MOVING HERE?

What you
need to know

This photo of a beautiful patch of purple coneflower growing alongside a relic of days-gone-by was submitted by Lindsay Sellars.

Electricity

Depending on where you live in the county, your electric service will be provided by one of two cooperatives.

In central and western Ozark County, it's White River Valley Electric Co-op (contact the co-op's Gainesville office at 417-679-4916; whiteriver.org).

On the far-east side, it's Howell-Oregon Electric Co-op (417-256-2131; hoecoop.org).

Important: Before you move, contact the cooperative serving your area and make sure the power will be turned on the day you arrive. Sellers usually close their accounts and have the power turned off when they leave; without notifying the co-op of your expected arrival, you could spend your first days here in the dark!

Water/sewer

If your new home is in one of Ozark County's three incorporated villages, your water will be provided by the city of Bakersfield (417-284-7238) or Gainesville (417-679-4858) or Public Water District No. 1 in Theodosia (417-273-4825).

If you're outside these areas, you'll most likely have a private well with an electric pump. (See the note in the electricity section about the importance of contacting the electric co-op providing service to your area before your move-in day).

Sewer service is located in some areas of the designated cities. For information on sewer service, contact Gainesville and Bakersfield cities (number above) or the Village of Theodosia at 417-273-4830. The majority of residents in Ozark County operate on private septic tanks, lagoons or other sewage devices.

FESTIVALS AND FUN

Area events

Fireworks displays

Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends

Celebrate the Fourth of July, Ozark County-style! The county's free fireworks displays are open to everyone, although related festivities, including games, food vendors and fundraiser offerings may have charges or request donations. Enjoy the fun on Fourth of July weekend at the Theodosia Corps of Engineers park and Theodosia Marina Resort off Highway 160 on Bull Shoals Lake, and on Labor Day weekend at the Pontiac campground and Pontiac

Nick and Timber Jones enjoy the fireworks show at Pontiac Cove Marina in this photo.

Cove Marina, also on Bull Shoals. Also, the town of Bakersfield generally hosts a fun-filled "picnic" featuring vendors, music and fireworks sometime in July. The celebration usually also includes the annual Bakersfield all-school reunion. Watch for updates on the "Festival Committee of Bakersfield" Facebook page.

Bakersfest

Held in September

Bakersfest, the annual festival that celebrates everything Bakersfield, packs the little town with happy folks who gather each year on the second Saturday in September. Festival events vary a little with each rendition but usually include a big car show and lots of family-style activities with food vendors and game booths that fill the town's Pride Park with colorful fun. The event usually includes the crowning of Bakersfest royalty as well. Watch for updates on the "Festival Committee of Bakersfield" Facebook page.

Hootin an Hollarin

Sept. 19-21, 2024

Ozark County's Hootin an Hollarin festival has been drawing families, friends and visitors together on the Gainesville square for more than 60 years. The beloved event celebrates old-fashioned traditions and highlights downhome country music all day and into the night. Square dancers swirl under the lights, accompanied by some of the Ozarks' best fiddlers and strummers. A wide variety of contests include gun and archery shoots, cornhole, a quilt show and such silliness as hog- and husband-calling contests that keep the laughter and adrenaline flowing. And through it all, a large outdoor craft fair offers the cleverest handmade items imaginable.

Wonders of Christmas on the square

Gainesville, a Friday in December

The annual Wonders of Christmas event in Gainesville transforms the square into a magical holiday wonderland. The festival is generally held on a Friday night in the first two weeks of December.

Vendors selling a wide variety of homemade food, festive drinks and Christmas present options give guests lots to see. A Mr. and Miss Merry Christmas contest, open to area children ages 4-5, usually is held in the gazebo on the northwest side of the square. The annual Jingle Bell Parade is the largest parade in Ozark County next to the annual Hootin an Hollarin parade. The night generally wraps up with Santa and Mrs. Claus visiting with children in the gazebo and the annual lighting of the gazebo's Christmas tree. Search for "Wonders of Christmas" on Facebook or contact Paula Rose at 417-989-1282 for information on the event.

Bakersfield, a Saturday in December

The hardworking volunteers of the Bakersfield Festival Committee put on a jolly good time each December with a parade and festival.

The event opens with a pancake breakfast with Santa Claus at the Bakersfield School cafeteria, followed by a Christmas parade. The parade awards cash prizes for best floats, school-affiliated entries and decorated horses.

After the parade is the crowning of Mr. and Miss Merry Christmas (open to 9th through 12th graders), Mr. and Miss Snowflake (open to 6th through 8th graders) and Little Mr. and Miss Merry Christmas (open to Kindergarten through 5th graders). For more information, search for "Festival Committee of Bakersfield Mo."

PLACES TO EAT & DRINK

ANTLER RESTAURANT

Highway 5 north and Third Street,
Gainesville; 417-679-4598

Famous for its pizza, the Antler also offers burgers, baskets and sandwiches, appetizers, salads, wings, desserts, low carb options and a Saturday night prime rib special. The restaurant also has a full bar and attached package store. See ad page 95.

BEER BELLY'S BAR & GRILL

216 State Highway 5 south, Gainesville
417-679-0405

Beer Belly's Bar & Grill, located on Highway 5, south of Gainesville near the Missouri - Arkansas line, is known for its diner classics with a twist. The menu features a number of starters including the house favorite southern bang bang shrimp and an Ozarks legend, pickle fries. Main entrees include burgers and handheld sandwiches, fried gulf shrimp and chicken strips, steaks, barbecue platters and artisan flatbread pizzas. A kids menu offers the young ones in the group a few choices, and for dessert guests can sample the restaurant's famous brown butter cake or end the meal with a simple ice cream sundae. The restaurant offers draft and bottled beer, as well as a full bar. The restaurant is located next to the Hitch 'N' Post in its plaza, see ad, page 96.

Ozark County has several eateries to help fuel exploration in and around the area. Pictured above, from left, appetizers and drinks from The Antler, prime rib from Beer Belly's and a red velvet shake from Crossroads Drips & Dips.

CASH SAVER PANTRY

Highway 160, Theodosia;
417-273-4784

This full-service supermarket in Theodosia is the perfect place to pick up food to cook in your cabin or rental with kitchen. It also includes a deli that sells a variety of sandwich fixings, famous fried chicken and picnic supplies for guests on the go. See the Theodosia Marina Resort ad on page 4.

CODY'S

6162 Highway 160, Theodosia;
417-273-2000

www.codyssaloon.com
jameswright@codyssaloon.com

Cody's, a lively establishment in Theodosia, features a full bar, pool tables, darts, "Cody-oke," a full menu for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Live music is offered on many Fridays and Saturday with karaoke the nights there isn't a band. Stop in, and you're bound to have a good time! See ad, page 93.

COOKIE'S RESTAURANT

Off Highway 160, Theodosia;
417-273-4444

tmbullshoals.net

If you plan to visit the Theodosia area on Bull Shoals Lake, be sure to make a stop at Cookie's restaurant for down home, country cooking. Cookie's is a family style restaurant featuring a menu that has something for everyone: hamburgers and hotdogs for the youngsters (and not so youngsters), salads, soups and sandwiches for the light eaters and pastas, meats and seafoods for the more discriminating palate. Folks love their full breakfast menu, daily and nightly specials, famous fried chicken, prime rib on Friday and Saturday nights, homemade pies and other desserts! The restaurant is located near the Theodosia Marina Resort entrance, just a short distance from Highway 160, with a gorgeous view of Bull Shoals Lake. Cookie's can accommodate large groups in a party room, smaller parties in the dining room and can cater for special occasions. See the Theodosia Marina Resort ad on page 4.

CROSSROADS DRIPS & DIPS

Highways 5 (North) and 160, Gainesville
417-679-4847

This combination coffee shop and ice cream parlor opened in March 2022, and it's been popular ever since. The coffee menu features traditional coffee, Americanos and iced coffees, as well as frappes and hot and cold lattes with flavored syrups in a variety of creative combinations. Lunch specials are offered some days (check their Facebook page for updates), and themed drink specials change monthly. Hand-dipped ice cream cones made with Missouri-owned The Ice Cream Factory ice cream and milkshakes round out the menu. See ad, page 89.

ROCKBRIDGE RAINBOW TROUT RANCH

Off N Highway northwest of Gainesville in Rockbridge; 417-679-3619
rockbridgemo.com

This tucked-away gem that's famous throughout the region is located near the newly opened Bryant Creek State Park. Rockbridge Rainbow Trout Ranch is open daily. Fisherfolk can catch their own rainbow trout in the resort's spring-fed stream to be prepared in the Rockbridge kitchen – or opt to order off the menu, which also includes steaks, sandwiches, fresh trout and plate dinners. Grilled cinnamon rolls are a popular breakfast item. For dessert, try the homemade cobbler or order an "Edith special" (a grilled chocolate bar sandwich). Reservations recommended. See ad on page 8.

ROY'S STORE

Highway 181, Dora; 417-261-2810

A magnet for hungry locals and river-floating tourists, Roy's Store has it all. The epitome of a country store, guests here can purchase gas, a candy bar, heirloom seeds, craft beer from the widest selection around, feed for their livestock, a kayak, an authentic coon skin cap, handmade knife or enjoy the full service restaurant. Roy's serves breakfast, lunch and supper offering a wide variety of custom-made home-cooked meals, sandwiches, burgers and baskets. Catfish is a favorite – and oh, Bertie's homemade pies! They're know for miles around. A jam night is held each Tuesday from 6 to 8 p.m. You won't want to miss a stop here. See ad on page 16.

TAKE 5

714 Highway 5 South near the state line
417-679-0275
